

Writers Here & Now, the Jiménez-Porter Writers' House,
Pride Alliance, and LGBT Studies Present

Felicia Luna Lemus & T Cooper

Wednesday, February 6th, 2008
Reading and Q&A @ 7 pm in the Special Events Rm. (6137) of the McKeldin Library
Followed by a Reception at Dorchester Hall
Open to the Public - Free Admission

"Felicia Luna Lemus is a literary alchemist: she combines words that you never before thought could exist in the same sentence.

She breaks all the rules and makes you wonder why you thought there were any. "

--Vendela Vida

"The way Cooper toys with readers is part Sarah Silverman and part Jonathan Safran Foer. Obscuring gender in fiction is nothing new, but Cooper hits [hir] puckish stride when roiling [hir] audience, and then (usually) letting it in."

--The Believer

Writers Here & Now, The Writers' House, Pride Alliance, and LGBT Studies Present

FELICIA LUNA LEMUS & T COOPER

"The way Cooper toys with readers is part Sarah Silverman and part Jonathan Safran Foer. Obscuring gender in fiction is nothing new, but Cooper hits [hir] puckish stride when roiling [hir] audience, and then (usually) letting it in on the joke." --The Believer

Reading and Q&A @ 7 pm in the Special Events Rm. (6137) of the McKeldin Library
Followed by a Reception at Dorchester Hall

"Felicia Luna Lemus is a literary alchemist: she combines words that you never before thought could exist in the same sentence. She breaks all the rules and makes you wonder why you thought there were any." --Vendela Vida

Find out more about T Cooper at <http://www.t-cooper.com>
Find out more at Felicia Luna Lemus <http://www.felicialunalemus.com>

For more information, please contact programming.pride@umd.edu

<http://www.pridealliance.umd.edu>